CoCo resolution

- Get an approved high level product definition from the Product Council

- With it create a product roadmap:

    - Which features are essential, which ones are nice to have

    - What must be fixed now, with rationale

    - These should have timelines and a minimal business case justification attached to them

- Design Authorirty takes the product roadmap and produces a technical roadmap

- (this can go back and forward until everyone is happy)
